Mission: As a land-grant University, a part of our purpose is to serve the communities of our region and state through the unique cultural and educational ideas, faculty, and programs that are developed on our campus. An innovative, interdisciplinary project in which the arts and health are joined in outreach programs presented in hospitals, senior centers, long-term care institutions, and special schools that will serve our communities well.

Objectives:

1. To enrich the lives and nurture the minds of individuals in health care centers, nursing homes, assisted living, and retirement communities who often are unable to attend cultural and educational programs on our University campus.
2. To work with Program and Activity Directors in community health, long-term care and retirement centers in regions of Western Massachusetts.
3. To work with University faculty, students, and staff from the School of Nursing, departments of the College of Humanities and Fine Arts, the University Fine Arts Center, Office of University Outreach, and other departments in the planning and participation of this Community Arts Health and Healing Project.
4. To invite volunteers, civic and business organizations and leaders in the community to participate in the (CAHH) Project.
